

Career guidance (Learning for Jobs)

One way of ensuring that vocational programmes meet labour market needs is to give VET students good guidance. As careers diversify, career choices and therefore career guidance are becoming both more important and more demanding.

LinkToContentAt: <http://dx.doi.org/10.1787/9789264087460-5-en>

Knowledge Type: Thematic report [1]

Other Tag: vocational school [2]

secondary education [3]

jobs [4]

vocational education and training [5]

work place [6]

training [7]

labour market [8]

Parent URL: <http://dx.doi.org/10.1787/9789264087460-en> [9]

Source URL: <https://www.innovationpolicyplatform.org/document/career-guidance-learning-jobs>

Links

[1] <https://www.innovationpolicyplatform.org/knowledge-type/thematic-report-0>

[2] <https://www.innovationpolicyplatform.org/topic/vocational-school>

[3] <https://www.innovationpolicyplatform.org/topic/secondary-education>

[4] <https://www.innovationpolicyplatform.org/topic/jobs>

[5] <https://www.innovationpolicyplatform.org/topic/vocational-education-and-training>

[6] <https://www.innovationpolicyplatform.org/topic/work-place>

[7] <https://www.innovationpolicyplatform.org/topic/training>

[8] <https://www.innovationpolicyplatform.org/topic/labour-market>

[9] <http://dx.doi.org/10.1787/9789264087460-en>